ABOUT

Located in Camden Council's Oran Park, south-west of Sydney, the new Julia Reserve Community Centre provides spaces for meetings, conferences, local businesses and private events, as well as indoor and outdoor performances. Sitting adjacent to a community skate park, basketball court and parkour area, the $5.6 million Community Centre is situated in Oran Park Town, which is one of the largest master planned communities in New South Wales and will provide 10,000 lots for 30,000 residents over the next 20 years. The area was originally home to the Muringong, southernmost of the Darug people.
